Collective Worship

We understand worship to be a special act or occasion whose purpose is to show reverence to God. Collective worship will involve all members of the school coming together and participating in a whole school worship or key stage groups may gather individually.

We expect everyone to take an active part in any act of worship but recognise that some children maybe withdrawn due to their own religious beliefs.

In line with the 1988 Education Reform Act, which states that collective worship should be 'wholly or mainly of a broadly Christian character', we normally base our worship on the teachings of Christ and traditions of the Christian Church. However, we conduct our worship in a manner that is sensitive to the individual faith and beliefs of all members of the school.

Organization of collective worship

We hold a daily act of collective worship in our school. This is made up of five assemblies, which include whole school and separate key stages. We conduct worship in a dignified and respectful way. We tell children that worship time is a period of calm reflection. We regard it as a special time and expect children attempt to behave in an appropriate way as best they can. We ask them to be quiet and thoughtful and to listen carefully to the teachings and participate fully in prayer and hymns.

The head teacher or other members of staff normally conduct worship, but at times local clergy or other representatives of local groups and organisations may be invited into school to conduct the assembly.

We take the themes of our worship from the traditions of the Christian faith and we often reflect the festivals and events of the Christian calendar as well as key events from other religions.

Sometimes the themes of our assemblies reflect and build on topics that we teach as part of the school's PSHE curriculum. We plan our worship as part of a series of themes in advance of the day they take place.

Our worship also reflects the achievements and learning of the children. We encourage the children to participate in worship by showing their work to the other children and raising issues that they have discussed in their classes.

Worship offers an opportunity to acknowledge and reward children for their achievements both in and out of schools. They play an important part in promoting the ethos of the school, which is that all children are valued and all achievements are recognised.

We may invite parents to worship on special occasions and we encourage them to attend, as this promotes the community spirit of the school and is a practical demonstration of the way the home and the school work together to support the achievements of our children. take place in each

Right of withdrawal

We expect all children to attend worship. However, any parent can request permission for their child to be excused from attending religious worship and the school will make alternative arrangements for the supervision of the child during the period concerned.

Parents do not have to explain or give reasons for this. This complies with the 1944 Education Act and was restated in the 1998 Education Reform Act.

The Head Teacher and R.E. co-ordinator keeps a record of all children who withdraw from collective worship. Monitoring and review It is the role of the Head Teacher to monitor the policy and practice of Collective worship.
